TB is not a contagious disease. People fall prey to this disease due to environmental pollution, poverty and lack of awareness. With the help of nutritious food, modern medicine and public participation, TB can be completely eradicated. For this, the patient has to face this disease with patience and courage.

Due to initiatives like Niksha Mitra and effective treatment in Sambalpur and Odisha, the number of tuberculosis patients is decreasing. Public representatives and corporate bodies are taking responsibility to make Sambalpur district free from TB. In this TB-free campaign, senior citizens, youth organizations, social organizations and citizens should also personally participate in serving the patients and their families. The district administration should make various plans including the provision of a portal for this. The main goal of healing our society can be achieved only if there is an attitude of serving others.
